A TRADITION STEEPED IN HISTORY

COMMENCEMENT PROCESSION

A procession of the various participants begins and ends our formal commencement ceremony. Individuals are arranged to reflect the order of academic rank in the hierarchy of the traditional European university.

At SNHU, the Mace Bearer leads the procession. He or she is followed by the Faculty Marshals, the Platform Party, and then the Faculty of the schools arranged in order of seniority, beginning with the senior faculty. The procession is concluded by the degree candidates. They enter in groups representing their schools/units, led by a gonfalon (flag) and walking in rank.

CEREMONIAL MACE

The mace was first used as a weapon. The word comes from the Latin ‘mateola,’ meaning mallet or staff. It consisted of a long club with a ball of steel or brass at one end. As newer weapons came into use, the mace lost its prime purpose as an instrument of war; however, it had become a symbol of authority and power. Universities in Europe with roots in the Middle Ages adopted maces as symbols of authority and unity. Since then, other institutions of higher learning have come to use the mace in their ceremonies.

Southern New Hampshire University commissioned David Elwell, a New Hampshire silversmith, to create a mace to commemorate the university’s 50th anniversary commencement. This mace is made of brass, aluminum, copper, and bronze, with a staff of ebony and African padauk.

THE PRESIDENTIAL MEDALLION

The Presidential Medallion, worn by the president with academic regalia, is a symbolic representation of the authority and responsibility vested by the university in the president. It is a symbol of office that dates from medieval times and is worn by the president at all ceremonial occasions.

The Presidential Medallion is a permanent possession of the university and is presented to successive presidents at their inaugurations by the chairman of the Board of Trustees. The chain and medallion are fabricated from sterling silver. The university emblem, in relief, is the central design on the medallion. It is surrounded by a border of entwined wires, similar in texture to the chain links, and finished with a square raised edge. The heavy, twisted links of the chain bear four oval plates on each side. The background of the entire piece is oxidized to highlight the relief design and textures. The names of those who have held the office are engraved on the reverse side of the medallion.

The Presidential Medallion was designed and fabricated in 1987 by award-winning New Hampshire metalsmith Jacquelyn Ferreny of Milford.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The academic costume worn today originated in the universities of the Middle Ages, when a warm gown and hood were useful for scholars and clerics in unheated buildings. The distinctive gowns served to set students apart from their fellow citizens, hence the perennial controversy between ‘town and gown.’

Until after the Civil War, students at most American universities wore caps and gowns daily while in residence. These varied in design until they were standardized by the American Intercollegiate Commission in 1894. At that time it was decided that all robes would be black; bachelor’s gowns would have long, pointed sleeves; master’s gowns would have long, closed sleeves with slits for the arms at the elbows; and doctor’s gowns would have very full, bell-shaped sleeves, each with three velvet bands matching the velvet facing of the gown opening.

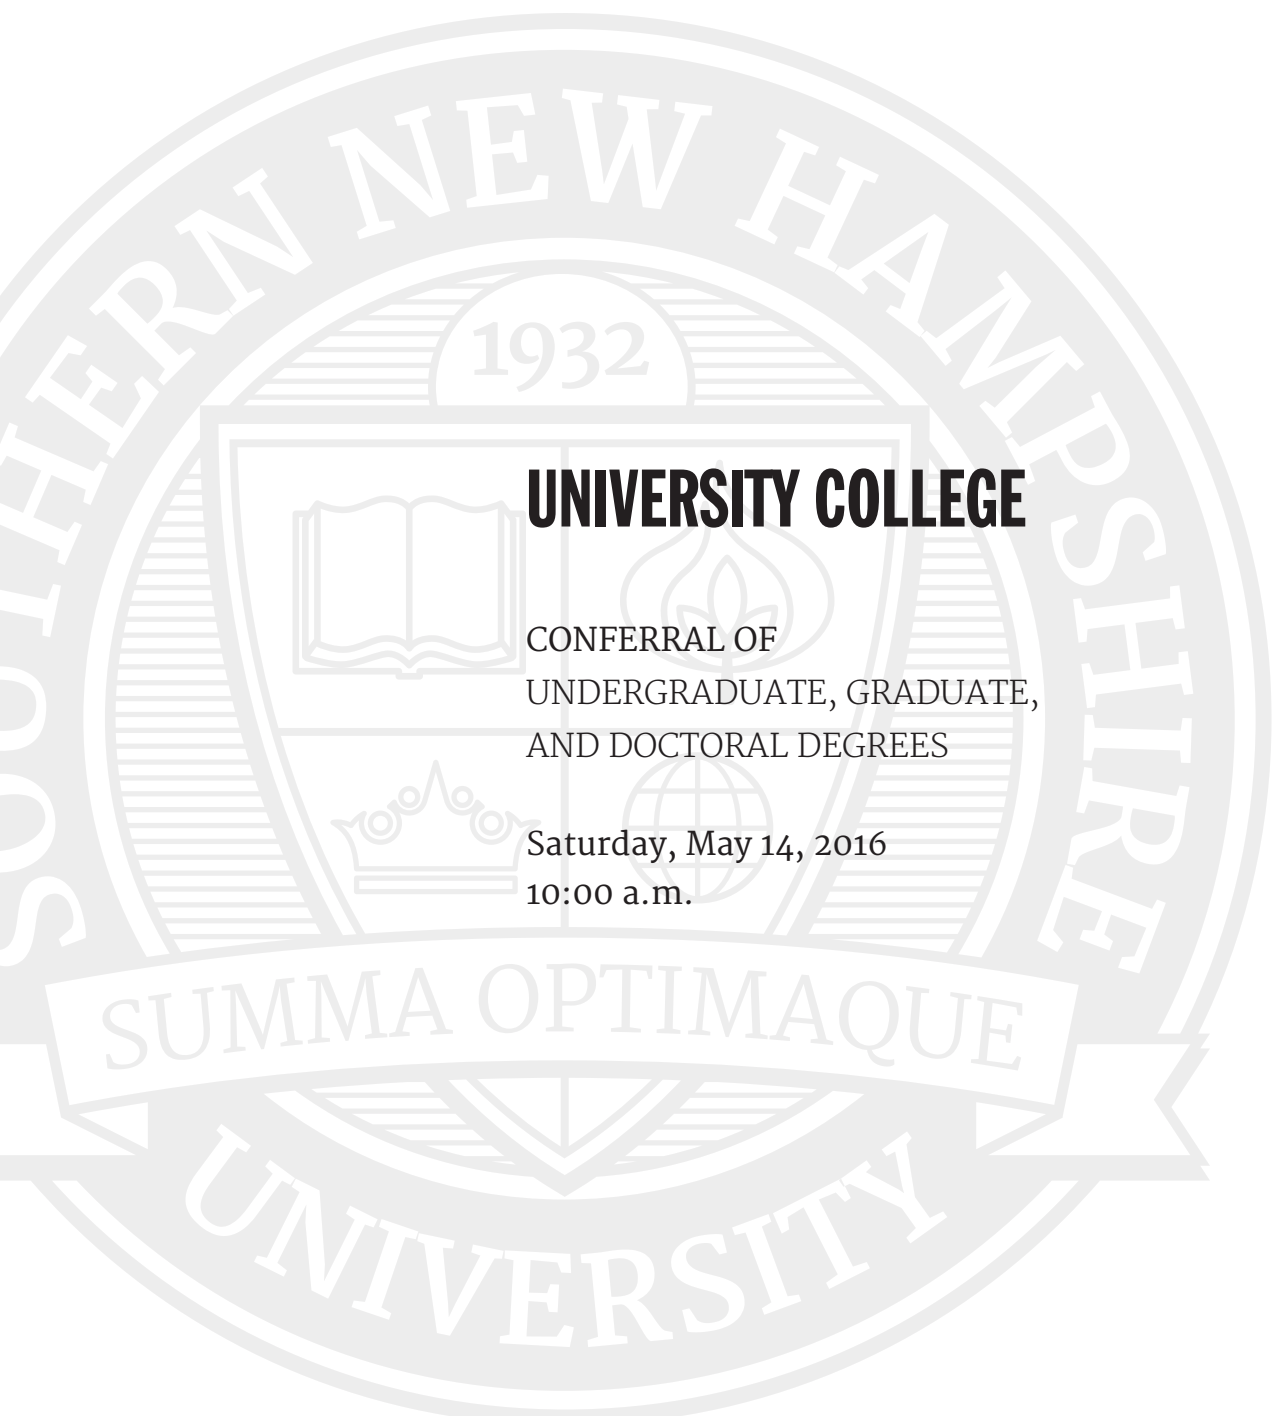

The length of hoods varies with the degree. The lining of the hood indicates the university by the colors. The border of the hood indicates the academic discipline in which the degree was earned.

Students who have studied abroad for one or more semesters will be wearing a sash with the colors of the flag of the country where they studied. The sashes are issued to signify the university’s commitment to provide students with opportunities for acquiring international and cross-cultural experience.

The colors for academic fields established by the American Council on Education include:

Agriculture	maize
Arts, Letters and Humanities	white
Business, Commerce and Accounting	light brown
Dentistry	lilac
Economics	copper
Education	light blue
Engineering	orange
Fine Arts	brown
Forestry	russet
Journalism	crimson
Law	purple
Library Science	lemon
Medicine	green
Music	pink
Nursing	apricot
Oratory	silver gray
Pharmacy	olive green
Philosophy	dark blue
Physical Education	sage green
Public Administration	peacock blue
Science	golden yellow
Social Work	citron
Theology	scarlet
Veterinary Science	gray

(Caps and gowns representing degrees from foreign universities may be quite different from those described. The most obvious difference may be in the cap, which is often a soft, round hat of the style worn by medieval scholars.)

UNDERGRADUATE SPEAKER

KELSEY CARNELLBachelor of Science - Marketing*

President LeBlanc, Provost Lynott, Dean Lorenz, faculty, friends, family, loved ones and the Class of 2016: welcome to Commencement! This is it. This is the day we have all been waiting for and working for since preschool. Today on paper all your hard work, goals and schoolwork will be recognized as you cross that stage and become SNHU alumni! As I think back to myself as a senior in high school, opening my SNHU acceptance letter with confetti flying and a large pen and pendant...I can't believe these four years have flown by so fast but they are the years I would not trade for anything. I have met some of my best friends, learned a lot about myself and others, taken many challenging classes, been exposed to diverse cultures and people, been on trips and conferences to places I would never have imagined and met some amazing mentors, professors and people. As we all have paved different paths for ourselves, and written our own SNHU story, we all share one thing. That is Penmen Pride and the love for SNHU. My friends sometimes make fun of me because I could talk for days about the world class education that SNHU offered me and all of my amazing positive experiences in my short four years, but I will limit myself to 500 words for your sake. We all share the pride of being a SNHU student, receiving a diploma, and all went through the emotional rollercoaster of college together. Back freshman year when we were greeted by a swarm of Orientation leaders that helped move us in and made it seem so effortless, to the orientation welcoming programs that made us as scared little freshmen feel so welcome and already embraced by the SNHU community, and of course those late nights in the Library Learning Commons. SNHU has provided me with endless opportunities and is it up to us to use what we have learned and the opportunities given to us to succeed in life after college. Don't be afraid to step out of your comfort zone. I want to challenge you today to get out of your comfort zone. You have so much incredible potential on the inside. As we walk across this stage today remember all you have accomplished, memories last forever and sadly that SNHU student ID will not work anymore as your lifesaver, naps will be limited, no one can cook an omelette as good as Fast Eddy and college is the time of your life. Celebrate, remember, and embrace the day, Class of 2016, because today's your day! So please, believe in yourself, know your greatness and take pride in your accomplishments. I wish you all the best in your future endeavors and know that you always have all of these incredible classmates, faculty, and staff that all have your back as they did when you were a student on campus. Congratulations SNHU Alumni - welcome to adulthood, show them who's boss!

GRADUATE SPEAKER

KIMBERLY O'KEEFE

Bachelor of Science – Organizational Leadership

Once upon a time, I was a little girl who loved to play dress-up and make-believe more than anything else, including being a graduate and wearing a hand-me-down cap and gown. Needless to say, I dreamt of this day for what seems like a lifetime. Like many of you, my journey did not begin online at SNHU, but rather in a more traditional path, where I attended a few different schools right out of high school. I know I'm not alone in saying I had a few change of hearts and wound up taking many years off which made me believe that maybe graduation was just a game of make-believe. SNHU changed all of that for me, though, because I stand here today, no longer a little girl playing dress-up, but as a Southern New Hampshire University graduate filled with Penmen Pride and excited to celebrate this milestone. As SNHU students we are a diverse student body spread out globally, yet we are bound by many commonalities; the strongest of which originates from a place of determination where we each made the decision to take a chance on ourselves and pursue higher education. To me, chance implies either a risk or an opportunity. For those who saw your decision as a risk, you wondered: Could you balance work, family, and school at the same time? Others immediately saw the chance as an opportunity – one to broaden your mind and brighten your future. So whether the chance was a calculated risk or a fearless leap into the unknown, take a minute to think back on all of the chances you took to get to this moment. Were they worth it? Because each of you are seated here today, I know they were. Now imagine something even more exciting than the initial chance you took to get here, and that is the chances that have yet to be discovered. I am a firm believer in the notion that “thoughts become things”, so whatever it is you want for your future, now is your chance to dream it and make it happen. Most importantly though – don't ever stop taking chances. Whether disguised as a risk or an opportunity remember that it will be worth it. Life's greatest moments will be built by a series of chances and it's up to you to find them, take them, create them, and make the most of them. One chance can change your entire life if you let it. Be ever so proud of the story you wrote to get here and the life you have yet to build beyond today. I wish you endless opportunities to drop every fear and take every chance. Congratulations!

GRADUATE SPEAKER

DAVE NUMME

Master of Business Administration

Good Morning! Fellow graduate students, we are steps away from finishing our final ascent up our graduate school mountain. Let's pause.

Remember what it has taken for us to reach this vista. Let's also remember those who have helped us and look forward to the future.

Let's drink in the views of this vista. Revel in the beauty of this place and the specialness of this moment. Look around at our fellow climbers. Think about those who have supported us on this climb. Our professors. Fellow students. Academic advisors. Librarians. Colleagues. Other SNHU staff. Our loved ones. So many who want us to be successful.

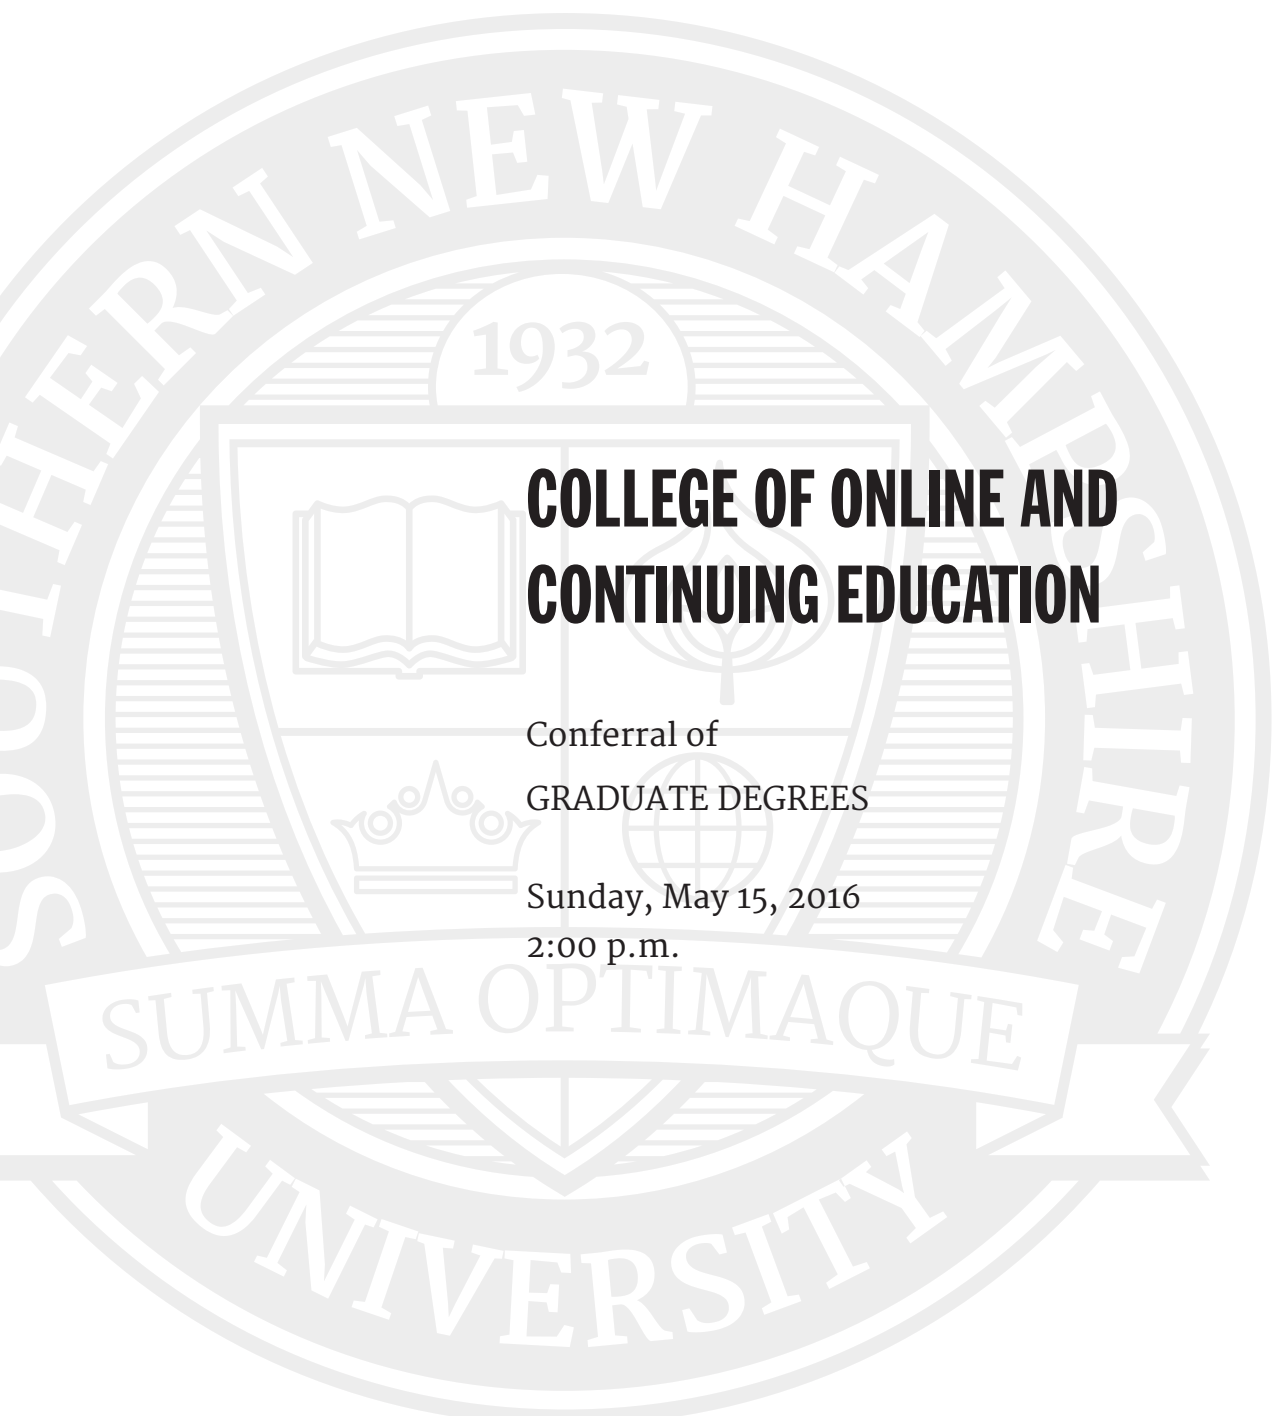

When we were at the base of this mountain, we felt overwhelmed and wondered how we would ever make such a climb. However, as we conquered each assignment, those assignments became conquered course peaks. Those conquered course peaks led us to this summit we now revel in today. Remember the short nights spent studying and those who helped us. Remember the encouraging text messages and cheerful phone calls we received. The hugs and listening ears our families gave us.

In various venues, such as SNHUConnect, email interactions, homecoming, student advisory board meetings and other places, I have gotten to know fellow climbers. I have discovered that our reasons for making this climb are as diverse as our ethnicities, genders and educational backgrounds. The mom with ten children wanting to improve their future. The fellow student who was told by her high school teachers that she was stupid and could never amount to anything. The dad of seven children who was the first in his generation to go to college and wants to be the first in his family to get his Ph.D. The student who suffered with mental illness but became successful in her studies and in her career. For me, it was the commitment I made to my family to provide for them. I am inspired by your stories and motivated to help our classmates. These are our fellow climbers. WE are the online students of Southern New Hampshire University.

From this vista, scan the horizon. Look at the peaks yet to be scaled. Keep dreaming. Keep taking the steps to achieve your dreams. Look behind you. There are many others who need our help. Let's stay involved with our school. Let's help the next generation of climbers scale their peaks and reach their dreams. Join me in helping fellow Penmen find their next job. Let's open our professional networks to them. Let's help them through the challenges of their studies. Join me in finding ways to continue to build our SNHU community. Let our accomplishments inspire them.

Congratulations on successfully completing your climb. We D-I-D I-T!!!!

GRADUATE SPEAKER

JESSICA TORRUELLA TORRES

Master of Science in Management – Healthcare Administration

If you had told me two years ago that I would be standing here today, having earned a Master's degree, I would not have believed you. But at this moment, I am a living example of what can be done given the right opportunity. Before joining the SNHU Online Graduate program, my academic performance had been adequate. By that I mean that I always did just enough to pass my classes. In high school, I always found the rigidity of the classroom overwhelming, and college was no different. It took me a long time to finish my bachelor's degree, and the thought of going back to school was terrifying.

In August of 2012, I moved with my husband to Tulsa, Oklahoma. He was going to graduate school there, and I began working for a local energy company. After a year I was laid off along with 86 other people. I found myself without a job, in a very unfamiliar place and in an extremely challenging job market. I began considering graduate studies in order to make myself more marketable. I spent months researching nearby schools, but the problem was that all of them had the same structure; a structure I felt wasn't for me. I did not want to commit to graduate school if it required me to sit in classrooms for hours on end. Then I saw a commercial for SNHU, and everything changed. I called, talked to the admissions advisor, sent my transcript, and before I knew it I was enrolled. I can honestly say that that phone call was one of the best decisions I've made in my life. SNHU understands that all students are not the same. That not every student can relocate to study because many of us have jobs, or kids, or like in my case a partner who can't relocate. But, more importantly, SNHU understands that not every student learns the same way. Times have changed, and SNHU has changed with the times. With the use of technology, SNHU has made it possible for students, like me and all of my fellow graduates, to continue with our life commitments and to have access to higher education. In closing, I would like to share a quote from learning technology expert Elliot Masie. He said, "We need to bring learning to people instead of people to learning." Southern New Hampshire University brings learning to many of us who otherwise would not be able pursue a graduate education. I would like to take this opportunity to thank my mom, dad, and husband for believing in me, even when it was hard to believe in myself.

THE EXCELLENCE IN TEACHING AWARD

Southern New Hampshire University traditionally has recognized outstanding teaching in its many degree programs. Following an extensive selection process, a full-time faculty member and an adjunct faculty member are honored with the annual Excellence in Teaching Award, which is announced during the May commencement ceremony. The process is student-driven with all nominations coming from the student body. A committee of faculty, administrators, and students used the nomination information and the following criteria to select the winners:

- Effectiveness as a classroom teacher.
- Commitment to advising and/or tutoring students beyond what might be expected.
- Professional development to remain current in the discipline and teaching.
- Contributions toward building the reputation or image of the university.
- General attitude toward students that demonstrates a concern for their welfare.

The finalists for the 2016 Excellence in Teaching Award from University College (UC) undergraduate, full-time faculty are:

- Crystal Bickford, Associate Professor of English
- Aaron Collins, Assistant Professor of Chemistry
- Susan Cook, Assistant Professor of English
- Susan D'Agostino, Associate Professor of Mathematics
- Tracy Dow, Assistant Professor of Communication, Media Arts & Technology
- Peter Frost, Professor of Psychology
- Adam Gilbert, Assistant Professor of Mathematics
- Kostas Karadakis, Assistant Professor of Sport Management
- Robert MacAuslan, Assistant Professor of Sociology
- Kenneth Nivison, Associate Professor of Humanities
- Patricia Spirou, Professor of Marketing

The finalists for the 2016 Excellence in Teaching Award from University College (UC) undergraduate adjunct faculty are:

- Christine Burke, School of Arts and Sciences
- Ashley Liadis, School of Business
- Scott Milne, School of Arts and Sciences

The finalists for the 2016 Adjunct Faculty Excellence in Teaching Award for the College of Online and Continuing Education (COCE) are:

BUSINESS

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

The School of Business at Southern New Hampshire University prepares students for successful careers through a commitment to exceptional teaching of business fundamentals, a relentless focus on the competencies and workplace skills that distinguish high performers in business, and partnerships with businesses and organizations that provide our students with workplace experience and an understanding of today's business environments. The basic knowledge in accounting, economics, finance, marketing, management, leadership, and operations that every business student must attain is no longer sufficient to succeed. Students today need to be adaptable to succeed in a workplace where jobs that have never existed before are being created daily as new technologies provide opportunities and challenges. They need to understand the implications of a global marketplace that is fully connected and interdependent. And they need to approach every job as an entrepreneur, finding new and better ways of doing things. We pride ourselves on our exceptional faculty that provides a broad, relevant business education designed to launch our students on successful careers and lives.

COLLEGE OF ONLINE AND CONTINUING EDUCATION BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

The mission of the College of Online and Continuing Education's business, technology, and engineering programs is to create the best online student learning experience in the world and to develop professionals who achieve success personally, in their careers and for society as whole. The department's many diverse programs all prepare students for both academic and professional advancement opportunities in their chosen fields and disciplines. Our programs employ rigorous learning outcomes, real world scenarios, and the latest technologies relevant to the field of professional practice. We pride ourselves on providing our students with a transformative educational experience and with never giving up on a student who is putting forth the effort to achieve his or her academic goals

COLLEGE FOR AMERICA

College for America at Southern New Hampshire University is an accredited, non-profit college that helps employers upskill their workforce through competency-based associate's and bachelor's degrees—ones that are extraordinarily low cost, built for working adults, and uniquely applicable in the workplace. Our college is dedicated to better connecting workforce research, higher education, and labor market needs.

We partner with employers nationwide to offer their employees rigorous degrees that are earned by completing real-world projects and goals—instead of traditional lectures and credit hours. These projects are designed to be immediately applicable in the workplace, so employers see results on day one. They are self-scheduled and self-paced, so students can fit school in around jobs and family responsibilities, which makes them more likely to persist and graduate.

EDUCATION

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

The School of Education is the newest school on the Southern New Hampshire campus. Founded in 2004, the School provides undergraduate, graduate, and doctoral programs to more than 700 students each year. The School of Education is committed to creating a better tomorrow by preparing students to be knowledgeable, reflective leaders, responsive to the needs of a diverse society.

The School of Education is strongly focused on teaching. Our faculty takes great pride in working closely with our students in a rigorous, practitioner-based program that leads to teacher certification. We have built strong partnerships with schools throughout the region that are committed to providing extensive clinical experiences in classrooms for our students as early as freshman year. Our recently redesigned undergraduate teacher education program will allow our teacher education candidates to spend their entire senior year in a school placement.
