Bachelor of Arts in Psychology Programs

SNHU's online Bachelor of Arts in Psychology provides a flexible foundation for entry into a number of careers in human services and psychology, as well as a variety of careers in human resources, law, public relations and many other fields.

Our online degrees in psychology emphasize understanding human thought and behavior, research activities, practical experience, critical thinking and communication.

The BA in Psychology degree includes concentrations in:

- Child and Adolescent Development
- Forensic Psychology
- Mental Health

Psychology

Expand your understanding of human behavior through classroom and field experiences that prepare you for graduate study or careers in counseling, social work, human resources, and even marketing research and criminal justice. Become well-versed in major psychological concepts, human behavior and research methods.

Child and Adolescent Development

Gain an in-depth understanding of the unique physical, social, psychological and cognitive needs of young people. Learn how kids grow and develop from birth through adolescence. Get the hands-on experience you need to work with young people in a variety of settings, from schools to clinics to hospitals.

Forensic Psychology

Pursue a career that combines psychology, criminal investigation and law with SNHU's online Forensic Psychology degree. Gain the research skills, psychological knowledge and critical thinking skills to deal with a variety of issues facing the legal system.

Mental Health

Obtain the knowledge and pre-professional experience you need to enter the mental health field. Learn about principles of therapy and assessment and apply your new knowledge in the field. The experience gained in the Mental Health program internship can give you an edge when applying for graduate school. This is the program of choice for those planning to become counselors and is a stepping stone to an advanced degree, typically required for those entering the field.

Psychology Programs -- Outlook

Psychology degrees are a great foundation for a variety of careers in human resources, law, public relations, education, counseling, administration and more.

Graduates become counselors, social workers, school counselors, community outreach workers, case managers and more.

Many psychology degree graduates pursue graduate studies in several fields of psychology or in business, law, education, medicine or the broad social sciences.
