

The Restaurant at Southern New Hampshire University

Enjoy exquisitely prepared cuisine from around the world at Southern New Hampshire University's student-run, fine-dining restaurant, The Quill.

Our Culinary Arts students prepare and serve Classical French, Caribbean, Middle Eastern, Thai, Classical and Mediterranean cuisine. For a real treat, come when the students are challenged to create their own signature dishes.

The restaurant is open Tuesdays and Fridays for lunch and Thursday evenings for dinner. Prix fixe and tasting menus feature appetizers, soups and salads, entrees, and desserts that will thrill your palate. Guests are invited to bring their own wine.

SNHU students manage every aspect of the restaurant, from meal creation to guest seating to serving.

Call 603.629.4608 or e-mail fineline@snhu.edu for reservations. Menus are available online at snhu.edu/restaurant.

The History of The Quill

The restaurant's name, The Quill, evokes the history of the university, which was founded as a school of accounting in the early 1930s. The quill, a pen used by colonial accountants, also appears as a staff held by the university's Penmen mascot in Athletics logos and as a feather in the university logo.

Early scribes wrote and decorated the pages of their manuscripts, including the Bible and the Magna Carta, with quill pens. Artists used them to sign their masterpieces with the quill. Wars were started, won and lost, and some were even averted by the stroke of a quill. Great works of literature, daily ship logs, correspondence and historical documents that changed the world, such as the Declaration of Independence and the U.S. Constitution were written and signed with the quill pen.

We sincerely hope that The Quill will be featured in a significant and memorable moment in your life!
