Healthcare is the largest industry in the U.S. and the second largest employer, with more than 11 million jobs and projected double-digit increases by 2022.*

* U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics

JOB GROWTH BY 2020

- Health educator jobs: 19%
- Healthcare management jobs: 23%
- Community health workers: 25%

Healthcare is the largest industry in the U.S. and the second largest employer, with more than 11 million jobs and projected double-digit increases by 2022.*

* U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics

WHY SOUTHERN NEW HAMPSHIRE UNIVERSITY?

- Transfer-friendly: Get credit for your previous coursework
- An affordable degree from a private, accredited nonprofit university
- Online classes let you arrange your coursework around your schedule
- Comprehensive curriculum, taught by real-world experts

UNPARALLELED SUPPORT

every step of the way

- Admission
- Advising
- Academics
- Faculty
- SNHU Career
- And beyond...

Learn more at snhu.edu | 1.800.668.1249
WHICH DEGREE IS BEST FOR YOU?

YOU...
... are very interested in healthcare and want to work closely with clinicians in an administrative role.

BS in Healthcare Administration
With SNHU’s online Bachelor of Science in Healthcare Administration, you’ll have the opportunity to work in professional and supervisory roles in a variety of settings, including:
- Hospitals
- Governmental healthcare agencies
- Pharmaceutical companies
- Physician practices

YOU ALSO...
... are looking to advance into a supervisory position and use data to make informed business decisions.

BS in Healthcare Administration, Health Information Management concentration
Graduates of SNHU’s online Bachelor of Science in Healthcare Administration/Health Information Management will be able to leverage data to make decisions that improve organizational effectiveness, working in roles such as:
- Administrative service managers
- Business intelligence analysts
- First-line supervisors
- Medical and health service managers
- Quality control systems managers

YOU ALSO...
... are committed to making policy changes to prevent errors in the future.

BS in Business Administration, Healthcare Administration concentration
As a graduate of SNHU’s online Bachelor of Science in Business Administration with a concentration in Healthcare Administration, you’ll have the knowledge required to step into diverse, non-clinical professional or supervisory roles, including:
- Community health
- Health services
- Administrative services

YOU...
... are very interested in healthcare and want to work closely with clinicians in an administrative role.

BS in Health Information Management
SNHU’s Bachelor of Science in Health Information Management provides a solid foundation and professional experience in this growing discipline, offering opportunities in hospitals, physician practices and other medical facilities in roles such as:
- Clinical data specialist
- Implementation support specialist
- Health information manager
- Public health information analyst

YOU...
... want to turn your passion into a meaningful profession and enjoy helping others embrace a healthier lifestyle.

BS in Health Science
SNHU’s online Bachelor of Science in Health Science will put you on a trajectory for success in a management or supervisory role in your chosen allied health field, including:
- Clinical laboratory technician
- Diagnostic medical technician
- Health information technician
- Medical assistant
- Dental hygienist

YOU...
... are ready and able to get a leg up on the competition with a required internship in the health information management field.

BS in Community Health Education
Upon completion of SNHU’s online Bachelor of Science in Community Health Education, you’ll work with a diverse population increasingly concerned with creating and maintaining a healthy lifestyle. Opportunities abound for health educators or community health workers in these settings:
- Public health departments
- Nonprofit organizations
- Hospitals
- Managed care facilities
- Private businesses

YOU...
... are interested in everything from developing wellness programs to creating public policies to fight infectious disease.

BS in Public Health
With SNHU’s online BS in Public Health, you’ll be able to make your mark in a rewarding field that’s growing faster than the average for all occupations. Opportunities range from medical and health services management to health education or community health work in a variety of settings and industries, including:
- Hospitals and medical facilities
- Managed care organizations
- Nonprofit organizations
- State and local health departments
- U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC)