Lisa Marsh Ryerson
University President and CEO
Southern New Hampshire University

Dear graduates, families, and friends,

I'm thrilled to be celebrating our graduates with you at our 2025 Fall Commencement!

We are recognizing over 29,000 graduates this fall. Congratulations to all of you! It took a great deal of commitment and perseverance to reach this milestone, and I hope you take a moment to reflect with pride on your accomplishment. As a first-generation college graduate, I understand the importance of lifelong learning and how earning your college degree can unlock opportunities for ourselves, our families and our communities. I'm sure you have many exciting accomplishments still ahead of you.

I also want to thank the families and friends celebrating our graduates with us. Your encouragement and support helped make this celebration possible.

Enjoy your celebration, and congratulations to the Class of 2025!

With gratitude,

A handwritten signature in blue ink that reads "Lisa Marsh Ryerson". The signature is fluid and cursive, written in a professional style.

Lisa

TRADITION

COMMENCEMENT PROCESSION

A procession of the various participants begins and ends our formal commencement ceremony. Individuals are arranged to reflect the order of academic rank in the hierarchy of the traditional European university.

At SNHU, the Mace Bearer leads the procession. He or she is followed by the Faculty Marshals, the Platform Party, and then the Faculty of the schools arranged in order of seniority, beginning with the senior faculty. The procession is concluded by the degree candidates. They enter in groups representing their schools/units, led by a gonfalon (flag) and walking in rank.

CEREMONIAL MACE

The mace was first used as a weapon. The word comes from the Latin 'mateola,' meaning mallet or staff. It consisted of a long club with a ball of steel or brass at one end. As newer weapons came into use, the mace lost its prime purpose as an instrument of war; however, it had become a symbol of authority and power. Universities in Europe with roots in the Middle Ages adopted maces as symbols of authority and unity. Since then, other institutions of higher learning have come to use the mace in their ceremonies.

Southern New Hampshire University commissioned David Elwell, a New Hampshire silversmith, to create a mace to commemorate the university's 50th anniversary commencement. This mace is made of brass, aluminum, copper, and bronze, with a staff of ebony and African padauk.

THE PRESIDENTIAL MEDALLION

The Presidential Medallion, worn by the president with academic regalia, is a symbolic representation of the authority and responsibility vested by the university in the president. It is a symbol of office that dates from medieval times and is worn by the president at all ceremonial occasions.

The Presidential Medallion is a permanent possession of the university and is presented to successive presidents at their inaugurations by the chairman of the Board of Trustees. The chain and medallion are fabricated from sterling silver. The university emblem, in relief, is the central design on the medallion. It is surrounded by a border of entwined wires, similar in texture to the chain links, and finished with a square raised edge. The heavy, twisted links of the chain bear four oval plates on each side. The background of the entire piece is oxidized to highlight the relief design and textures. The names of those who have held the office are engraved on the reverse side of the medallion.

The Presidential Medallion was designed and fabricated in 1987 by award-winning New Hampshire metalsmith Jacquelyn Ferrency of Milford.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The academic costume worn today originated in the universities of the Middle Ages, when a warm gown and hood were useful for scholars and clerics in unheated buildings. The distinctive gowns served to set students apart from their fellow citizens, hence the perennial controversy between 'town and gown.'

Until after the Civil War, students at most American universities wore caps and gowns daily while in residence. These varied in design until they were standardized by the American Intercollegiate Commission in 1894. At that time it was decided that all robes would be black; bachelor's gowns would have long, pointed sleeves; master's gowns would have long, closed sleeves with slits for the arms at the elbows; and doctor's gowns would have very full, bell-shaped sleeves, each with three velvet bands matching the velvet facing of the gown opening.

The length of hoods varies with the degree. The lining of the hood indicates the university by the colors. The border of the hood indicates the academic discipline in which the degree was earned.

Students who have studied abroad for one or more semesters will be wearing a sash with the colors of the flag of the country where they studied. The sashes are issued to signify the university's commitment to provide students with opportunities for acquiring international and cross-cultural experience.

Undergraduate learners that have received ceremonial and/or Latin honors will be wearing a gold cord.

Graduates that are serving in the military or are veterans will be wearing red, white and blue woven cords in recognition and appreciation of their service.

Graduates that served on Student Government Association will be wearing blue and white woven cords.

Participants in campus Undergraduate Research Day will be wearing a light blue cord.

Graduates that have provided academic support as peer educators will be wearing a royal blue cord.

Many cords are representative of membership in a recognized National Honor Society; a full list is found on subsequent pages.

The colors for academic fields established by the American Council on Education for degrees conferred by Southern New Hampshire University include:

 Arts	 Nursing
 Business	 Philosophy
 Education	 Public Health
 Fine Arts	 Science

(Caps and gowns representing degrees from foreign universities may be quite different from those described. The most obvious difference may be in the cap, which is often a soft, round hat of the style worn by medieval scholars.)

HONOR SOCIETIES

Alpha Chi National College Honor Society (Epsilon Chapter)

SNHU is home to the Epsilon Chapter of Alpha Chi, the National Honor Society for liberal arts majors, which recognizes outstanding scholastic achievement, service, and character. Membership is open to liberal arts majors who have completed at least one half of the work required for a baccalaureate degree, rank in the top 10% of the class, and have earned cumulative GPA of 3.85 or above. Graduates wear blue and green cords. (Symbol: AC)

Alpha Phi Sigma Honor Society (Nu Iota Chapter)

Alpha Phi Sigma is the National Criminal Justice Honor Society, offering membership to qualifying SNHU students with a GPA of 3.2 or higher within the Justice Studies, Policing and Law Enforcement, Crime and Criminology, Terrorism and Homeland Security, or Law and Legal Process programs. Members of SNHU's Nu Iota Chapter wear blue and yellow cords at graduation, while executive board members don yellow and blue stoles. (Symbol: APS)

Alpha Sigma Lambda Honor Society

Founded with the goal of helping non-traditional students connect and further their academic and career goals, Alpha Sigma Lambda is a national honor society recognizing adult learners who display outstanding academic achievement. Students must have completed a minimum of 24 graded semester hour credits at SNHU (with at least 12 in Liberal Arts/Sciences courses) and have a minimum 3.2 GPA. Graduates wear gold and burgundy cords. (Symbol: ASL)

Delta Mu Delta Honor Society (Gamma Nu Chapter)

Delta Mu Delta is an international honor society recognizing outstanding scholastic achievement among both undergraduate and graduate students pursuing business degree programs. To qualify for membership, students must display good character, have completed more than half of their degree program, achieve a GPA of at least 3.6, and be in the top 20% of their class. Members of SNHU's Gamma Nu chapter wear gold and purple cords at graduation. (Symbol: DMD)

Eta Sigma Delta Honor Society

An international hospitality management honor society, Eta Sigma Delta recognizes the academic and professional achievements of students pursuing hospitality management, tourism, and culinary arts degrees. Undergraduate students must achieve a cumulative GPA of at least 3.2, while graduate students must maintain a GPA of at least 3.5 to be eligible for membership. (Symbol: ESD)

National Society of Collegiate Scholars

The National Society of Collegiate Scholars (NSCS) is a non-profit honor society established to encourage and recognize academic achievement. Emphasizing scholarship, leadership, and service, NSCS accepts members who rank in the top 20% of their class, achieve a cumulative GPA of at least 3.4, and attend a college or university with an active NSCS chapter on campus. Membership is for life and is by invitation only. Graduates wear gold cords. (Symbol: CS)

National Society of Leadership and Success

The nation's largest leadership honor society, the National Society of Leadership and Success (NSL, S) provides a step-by-step program to help build leadership skills among its members. To be nominated for membership, undergraduate students must have a minimum 3.0 GPA, while graduate students must have a GPA of 3.5 and have completed nine credits. NSL, S members wear gray and black cords at graduation. (Symbol: LS)

HONOR SOCIETIES

Order of Omega

The Order of Omega is an honor society exclusively for Greek Letter Organizations, and students who display strong leadership, character, and academic achievement. To be eligible for membership, students must be a junior or senior enrolled in a full-time undergraduate program, actively participate in a Greek organization on campus, maintain a GPA above the average Greek GPA, and display good character. Order of Omega members wear white and yellow cords at graduation, while executive board members wear white stoles with gold lettering. (Symbol: OO)

Phi Theta Kappa Honor Society

Phi Theta Kappa is an international honor society that recognizes and encourages scholarship among students in two-year associate degree programs. Dedicated to developing leadership, fellowship, and service opportunities, Phi Theta Kappa members must have completed at least 30 credits (15 at SNHU) as part of a two-year program and maintain a 3.5 GPA or higher. Members wear blue and yellow cords or a gold stole at graduation. (Symbol: PTK)

Pi Lambda Theta

The most selective honor society for educators, Pi Lambda Theta recognizes the academic achievement and outstanding disposition of education students. Undergraduate students must achieve at least a 3.5 GPA to earn membership, while graduate students must achieve a GPA of 3.9. All members must demonstrate exceptional disposition throughout their academic program. Upon graduation, members wear gold cords. (Symbol: PLT)

Psi Chi Honor Society

Psi Chi is an international honor society for psychology students and is designed to encourage, stimulate, and maintain excellence in the pursuit of academic achievement. Membership is open to undergraduate students enrolled in a psychology programs (major or minor) who have completed at least 45 credits (nine in psychology courses), have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.2, and have a minimum GPA of 3.2 in psychology courses. Graduates wear blue and gray cords. (Symbol: PC)

Sigma Gamma Tau

Sigma Gamma Tau (SGT) is a national honor society for Aeronautical Engineering. It was founded at Purdue University in 1953 to offer appropriate recognition to persons of superior scholarship, outstanding character, and professional achievement in the field of Aeronautical Engineering. Today the society has about 50 chapters and 29,000 members. Undergraduate students who are in the upper third of the senior class, upper quarter of the junior class, or upper fifth of the sophomore class are eligible for membership. The society's constitution allows chapters to be established only at universities which have ABET-accredited programs in Aerospace or Aeronautical Engineering. (Symbol: SGT)

Sigma Tau Delta Honor Society (Alpha Pi Psi Chapter)

Sigma Tau Delta is an international English honor society, recognizing academic achievement among students enrolled in English Language and Literature and Creative Writing programs. To be eligible, undergraduate students must have completed at least three semesters at SNHU, have completed two or more literature courses beyond General Education requirements, and have maintained a GPA of at least 3.3. Graduate students must maintain a 3.3 GPA and have completed at least 6 semester hours at SNHU. Members wear red and black cords at graduation.

EXCELLENCE IN STUDENT SUPPORT

The Excellence in Student Support Award is an award that recognizes staff members for making an outstanding impact on the students they serve.

- Demonstrates SNHU's commitment to quality instruction and an exceptional student experience;
- Supports students by acknowledging their prior learning and experience, addressing concerns through care and effective communication, and exemplifying an encouraging disposition;
- Engages students proactively, consistently, and authentically to foster academic growth and progress; and
- Utilizes expertise in one's discipline to create connections between course content and current developments in the corresponding field, maximizing student achievement in the online learning environment.

The winners of the online Fall 2025 Excellence in Student Support Award are:

Lindsey Bushee

Sarah Grizzel

Devin Siple

EXCELLENCE IN TEACHING AWARD

Southern New Hampshire University traditionally has recognized outstanding teaching in its many degree programs. Following an extensive selection process, a full-time faculty member and an adjunct faculty member are honored with the annual "Excellence in Teaching Award." The process is student-driven with all nominations coming from the student body. A committee of faculty, administrators, and students used the nomination information and the following criteria to select the winners:

- Effectiveness as a classroom teacher;
- Commitment to advising and/or tutoring students beyond what might be expected;
- Professional development to remain current in the discipline and teaching;
- Contributions toward building the reputation or image of the university; and
- A general attitude toward students that demonstrates a concern for their welfare.

The finalists for the 2025 "Excellence in Teaching" Award for campus faculty are:

Good morning, President Ryerson, Board of Trustees, faculty, staff, friends, family and my fellow graduates. I wonder if you resonate with the feeling that a lot of life is spent... measuring. Measuring how tall you're growing year after year, or how fast you can run that 200 meter dash, or how many baskets you can score when playing basketball, how far you can throw that rock, how many jumps you can do on the skip rope, or how long you can hold your breath underwater. When you're a kid, a lot of life is measuring.

And as you get older, the measuring just kind of... shifts.

You start measuring your grades or your salaries, your promotions; you start measuring milestones, miles per gallon, measuring how many hours of sleep you're getting... a lot of life is just spent measuring. And if you're like me and my household—my wife, who had us visit Rooms to Go not once, not twice, but seven times to measure the dimensions of the same couch to see if it fits in the living room—and me saying... "Girl, the measurements aren't changing; the couch is the same, it's going to fit". So much of life is all about measuring, and a lot of it is measuring those milestone moments. Those big life events—like those transitions through school—major life milestones. We are always working towards that next destination... almost as if we forgot how to be in the moment, we forgot what it means to sit in the pause in between.

Guess what—this moment right here is your pause, your breath between chapters—because you've made it to the destination.

Oh, those weekly discussion posts—guess what... there's no more discussing. Those Tuesday, Thursday, Sunday, crunch times—guess what... no more crunches. Those times your friends wanted to hang out, or your family wanted that extra quality time, and you kept missing out—guess what... no more missing out. And if you are like my wife, who had to sit through my Foundations of Stats class and trying to determine where to put the marketing dollars of which flavor of ice cream from a Midwest ice cream store—chocolate or rocky road—guess what... for her and for me, no more fake ice cream—we get to enjoy the real rocky road ice cream!

We've made it to the destination, but I think my favorite part of the SNHU journey isn't about this moment—as much as this moment is sweet—it's actually when I reflect about the week after week, the struggle of balancing and trying to finesse the schedule to make it work. And my wife and loved ones being with me along the way, supporting me in those moments I felt like, "Why did I do this... why... this is so hard," and I'm sure your journey is very similar as well. But those special moments aren't found at the destination; they're actually found in the journey, and I think that's what makes THIS experience so much sweeter. It's because of how hard it was and the fact that I didn't do it alone... and you didn't do it alone either. If you look to your left and right, you can see classmates who have done the same, who have journeyed through with you. But not just your fellow classmates, but your family and primary support as well. You didn't travel alone. Graduates, to say a special thank you to those who have supported you during your educational journey—who are watching online and those here in person—please join me in an intentional moment of applause for them. It would not have been possible without all of you.

But, before we rush toward the next destination—that new job, promotion, or next big thing—because with this new degree, I already know big things are coming—take a moment to pause. Think of it like reaching the top of a mountain after a long, steep climb. You don't just glance at the view and hurry back down—you stop, you breathe, you take it all in. This is your mountain top. Enjoy the view. Appreciate every late night, every sacrifice, every ounce of effort that got you here. Your classmates are here too, each with their own climb, their own story, and their own struggle—and yet we have all reached this summit together. So, for now, put the measuring tape away. No more tracking, no more planning, no more rushing. Just be still and enjoy this moment—because you've earned it.

Thank you, SNHU. Congratulations, Class of 2025—you've measured up, and today, we can proudly say: We made it!

ANNAIS ROMAN

Associate of Science, Associates with Highest Honors

Good afternoon, President Ryerson, Board of Trustees, faculty and staff here at SNHU, and the family and friends that are here with us today or watching at home from online and most importantly, to my fellow graduates, how you doing, Class of 2025?

My name is Annais Roman. As an accounting student, I've spent plenty of time with numbers. And while I promise not to turn this into a math lecture, today I do want to talk about statistics.

By definition, statistics are the practice of collecting and analyzing numerical data to identify patterns and probabilities. According to the research in 'Bridging Gaps in Understanding Graduation Rates', the statistics around higher education tell us something sobering: approximately only 63 percent of students who attend a university will actually finish, and some within 6 years. That means almost 4 out of every 10 never make it to this moment.

And among high school graduates, only about 62.8 percent pursue higher education at all. So right from the start, many paths are uncertain, and too many lives are reduced to numbers and percentages before we've even had the chance to write our full story.

Now, look around this room. It's not just young people fresh out of high school sitting here today. Nearly one in four undergraduates in the U.S. are 25 or older; that's 3.9 million students.

We didn't decide to join Southern New Hampshire University because it was easy. We started because it mattered. Because life didn't wait for us to have the perfect setup. Because even with the odds stacked against us, we knew that our story deserved a degree too.

But what statistics don't capture is the why behind our perseverance. They don't know the stories sitting in this room.

Take a look around. Sitting beside you might be a single parent who stayed up past midnight finishing assignments after rocking a baby back to sleep.

Behind you could be a first-generation student, the first in their family to wear a cap and gown, who carried not only their own dream but the weight of their family's hope.

In front of you might be a service member who logged in to online classes between deployments, or someone who worked double shifts and still found the time to write essays in the break room.

And then there are stories like mine. I am adopted. I am an Afro-Latina. For a time, I was the guardian of my two younger sisters, who were also adopted. And I am a 32-year-old service member in the United States Navy. On paper, all of that could have been a reason to stop. But instead, it became my why, my reason to keep going.

Statistically speaking, many of us here today fall into demographics that are told we won't make it to this day. But here is what I say: statistics do not account for the drive, determination, fire, and heart that we all share at this ceremony today. We all faced our personal adversities head on and vanquished the negative thoughts in our head or even the ones pushed on us by society around us, the sentiment that told us we couldn't. So, we proved them wrong and instead we did. Because of our heart, we proved to be the outliers that statistics also account for, the small select skewed group of people who go against the grain and question the world around us. So don't stop here today. Continue pouring your heart into everything that you do and set the path forward ablaze with passion and continue to prove that statistics truly don't reflect you and what your reality will become, that statistics need to catch up and account for what's in your heart.

Today we are not just graduates, we are proof that perseverance is louder than doubt. We are proof that a student with three jobs, or two kids, or no support system at all, can still stand tall in a cap and gown. We are proof that the impossible is always possible when the heart is involved.

Congratulations, Class of 2025, Let's keep proving the world wrong!

JACK MORRIS KOHAUT
Bachelor of Arts, Summa Cum Laude

Good morning, President Ryerson, Board of Trustees, faculty, staff, family, friends and my fellow graduates. I am grateful to be here with you celebrating on this side of hope.

My own hope nearly died while researching bachelor programs in Minneapolis, Minnesota. It was early 2020, and COVID-19 shut down my search.

As in-person learning became possible again, the traditional college pathway seemed more and more impossible. I had gotten married, we found full-time jobs and a place to live far away from universities, I wasn't "college-aged" anymore.

So, while I still dreamed about and felt called to study, I thought the ship had sailed. I missed my only opportunity for college. And I was losing hope.

Can you recall your own journey with hope?

We are here because, at some point, something stirred inside each of us as we took stock of the world around us, our families, our workplaces, even ourselves. Something stirred, crying out, "There is more! There is something better than this!" This stirring led us to SNHU, who cared enough to say, "There is no one who has missed it," who said, "There is more for you—and we want to help you get there".

SNHU and this community revived my dying hope to be a part of a brighter story.

And here we are, months and years later, after sacrificing time, opportunities, experiences, memories with loved ones, and sleep—so much sleep.

After seasons immersed in Boolean operators and search terms and papers of our programs.

After engaging week after week with our diverse and beautiful community of peers, we now show up changed. We carry hope... and the world needs hope. The world needs us.

So, I'd like to extend a challenge. Don't let this be just about us.

Rather, take a moment to recognize and celebrate those whose lives will be forever changed because we said yes to hope.

For those who will receive greater portions of equity, care, justice, love—because we sacrificed to study. For our cities and our families, who will be transformed by the hope of something better that we've lived, demonstrated, and know to be true. Celebrate for the generations of scholars who came before us, and for those who will certainly come after us—carrying hope forward.

And, of course, we can celebrate those around us—in the stands, online—who cooked us meals, bought us coffees, put up with our late-night rants and breakdowns. Those who now know that when someone you love goes to college, you also go with them. We couldn't be here without you. Thank you.

My fellow graduates, there's much to celebrate. We've made it to a land where there's no need to respond to two of your peers by midnight tonight. And it is good.

So, may our education be life-changing for ourselves, our families, communities—everyone we encounter. And may we always say yes to hope.

Congratulations, Class of 2025!

STUDENT SPEAKER

JOHN ROBERT NOLAN
Bachelor of Arts, Cum Laude

Good afternoon, President Ryerson, Board of Trustees, esteemed faculty, staff, friends, family and my fellow graduates...

When I started this journey at SNHU, my life was already pretty full.

A career in manufacturing, family obligations, and the occasional battle with my dog for control of the couch—and yes, she usually wins.

But today, standing here, I see this moment as both a finish line... and the start of something bigger.

The finish line of late nights, hard work, and sacrifices.

And the start of new opportunities, new challenges, and new ways to make an impact.

My own path didn't begin with college. It began with the military.

I became a soldier, a combat veteran, and through that service, I learned discipline, resilience, and sacrifice. Afterward, I started school—but due to life obligations and, if I'm honest, my own failure to follow through, I didn't finish at that time. For years, that was an unfinished chapter that weighed on me.

Coming back to school years later wasn't easy. I was older, carrying responsibilities I didn't have the first time. But I also came back with perspective—the discipline I learned in the military, the patience life had taught me, and the determination not to let this chance slip away again.

And here we are

And let me tell you—I didn't cross this finish line alone.

My family was with me every step of the way, cheering me on when I doubted myself.

My mentors and leaders at work pushed me to grow and held me accountable.

My professors gave me not just knowledge, but encouragement.

And my classmates—all of you—reminded me that none of us were walking this path by ourselves.

When I told my sister about being here today, she teared up and said, "Mom and Dad would be so proud of you." I wish they were here today cheering me on and so they could see the man I have become.

That moment reminded me of why I came back—to make them proud, to make my family proud, and to finally make myself proud.

This degree represents more than credits and grades.

It represents resilience.

It represents second chances.

It represents finishing what we start, even when life gets in the way.

And I know I'm not the only one who feels that.

Some of us studied after putting kids to bed.

Some of us logged in from hotel rooms while traveling for work.

Others balanced military service, long shifts, or caring for loved ones.

And yet, no matter where we started, today we've all ended up here together.

That's the beauty of this moment—it's not just about me or you individually. It's about us, the Class of 2025—a group of people from every walk of life who refused to quit, who leaned on each other, and who proved that persistence pays off.

So, let's take this finish line... and turn it into our starting line.

A launching point for careers, for families, for communities, for impact.

We've proven we can rise after setbacks and finish strong.

Class of 2025—this is our moment!

Let's step forward with courage, lead with integrity, and build a future we're proud of.

Because if we can accomplish this... there is nothing out there we can't do.

So, stand tall, celebrate loud, and take pride in every step that got you here.

Congratulations, Class of 2025—the world is waiting for us!

VIRTUAL STUDENT SPEAKER

STEVEN JAMES CANO
Master of Arts

Good afternoon, President Ryerson, Board of Trustees, distinguished Southern New Hampshire University faculty and staff, families, friends, and most importantly, my fellow graduates.

Let's pause for a moment.

Look around you—the people, the energy, the joy, and even the exhaustion. This is your moment.

This is our moment.

Many of us are feeling a mix of pride, relief, gratitude, and maybe even disbelief. But let it all in. No matter how long or winding the road, we made it here. Give yourselves a round of applause.

It's an honor to stand before you today as a fellow graduate whose journey, like many of yours, has been shaped by resilience, identity, and purpose. I stand before you as a proud first-generation college graduate. As a queer Latino. And today, I speak not just from my own story, but in honor of all of us who've ever felt unseen, unheard, or unsure whether this moment would ever be ours.

In my family, higher education wasn't guaranteed.

It was a dream. A hope. | Era un sueño y esperanza.

My father once told me, "Puedes tener cualquier cosa en el mundo y se te puede quitar, pero nadie puede arrebatarte lo que está dentro de tu cabeza. Nadie puede quitarte tu educación."

"You can have anything in the world, and it can be taken from you, but no one can take away what's inside your head. No one can take away your education."

Those words carried me through my toughest days, just as each of you had your own reasons and your own people who lifted you up when things felt heavy. Let's give them a round of applause. But this journey wasn't without heartbreak. As I began my master's program, I lost my mother unexpectedly. My world stopped. Suddenly, I wasn't just juggling syllabi and discussion posts, I was carrying grief.

And I know many of us here know what that feels like.

Together, we've written papers through tears.

We've met deadlines in the quiet after loss.

We've shown up on days when it felt impossible.

And yet, we chose to keep going. Not because we were always ready, but because our education had become more than a goal. It became a promise.

A way to carry a legacy in every late-night paper and every quiet moment of doubt.

Continuing wasn't just persistence. It was love. It was grief turned into purpose.

And if you're like me, I found strength in that.

To anyone who experienced loss on this journey, you know what it means to show up through the pain. And still, here you are. Today, we are not just earning degrees. We are creating stories. We are honoring the people who made this possible, those sitting in the audience, and those we carry in our hearts.

We are parents, caregivers, first-gens, career-changers, immigrants, survivors, members of our armed forces, dreamers.

We are resilient.

We are ready.

And we are the future.

Class of 2025, let this not be the finish line but the beginning of something bolder. Let this degree be your permission slip to take up space in rooms that weren't designed with you in mind.

To speak up when it would be easier to stay silent.

To challenge systems, uplift others, and lead with both heart and courage.

So take this all in, Class of 2025. You did it. We did it!

As Taylor Swift once said, "Never be ashamed of trying. Effortlessness is a myth." Every late night, every setback you pushed through—it all mattered. You earned this moment.

So, take up space. Lead with purpose. Be the change.

Congratulations, Class of 2025!

Now go out there and make your story matter!

COUNSELING PROGRAMS

The mission of the Clinical Mental Health Counseling Program is to empower new generations of counselors by transforming the lives of our students, and through them, the lives of the clients and communities they will serve. To achieve this, we deliver innovative, experiential counselor education, create an inclusive environment, and nurture authentic relationships. We recognize that earning a degree in counseling is more than just acquiring a base of knowledge and theories; it is about developing an identity as a healer.

The journey from novice to expert counselor takes many years. The completion of a master's degree is just one step in that journey; yet today, the faculty and staff of the Counseling program at SNHU are proud to present these students who have, by their hard work and perseverance, demonstrated they are ready to take the next step in their journeys, well prepared to have a positive impact on the lives of others, and are grounded in ethical practice that promotes unconditional positive regard and cultural humility towards themselves and their clients.

EDUCATION PROGRAMS

Within SNHU's General Education and First Year Experience program, students demonstrate mastery of enduring skills embedded across the curriculum while investigating professionally relevant topics and authentic learning experiences through the lenses of humanistic, historical, social scientific, and empirical ways of knowing. By asking our students to study these worldviews, we intend to equip them with lifelong skills that enable them to interact through these lenses, make sense of the world and information around them, and analyze interdisciplinary connections within different modes of thought. This work is crucial in order for students to have a transformative college experience that fosters personal growth, encourages proactive engagement in their academic studies, allows for planning for their professional careers, and promotes individuals to give back to their communities.

LIBERAL ARTS PROGRAMS

SNHU's Liberal Arts department embraces both passion and practicality within our many diverse undergraduate and graduate programs, such as Communication, Creative Writing, Digital Photography, English, General Studies, Graphic Design, History, and Liberal Arts. Our mission is to guide our students' exploration of the human experience to enrich their journeys as dynamic global citizens. In doing this, we foster the development of practical skills, leading to success in their chosen professional paths. We cultivate a passionate community that practices respect, collaboration, creativity, leadership, and communication.

Regardless of discipline area, a Liberal Arts education challenges students to expand their minds while encouraging empathy, creativity, critical thinking, and self-reflection. Liberal arts students sharpen their communication skills for different audiences in a variety of contexts and formats. Students learn to question assumptions in the search for truth. Emboldened by their liberal arts education, our students have a meaningful impact on their local and global communities, as they imagine and bring about a better future.

NURSING PROGRAMS

Southern New Hampshire University's Nursing department views students in our online programs as respected colleagues who come to us with their own unique views of the world and nursing. At SNHU, students are valued for the contributions they bring into the learning environment and are viewed as both learners and learning resources.

Graduates are prepared to be successful nurse leaders, who promote a culture of quality and safety within a diverse society and are responsive to meet the challenges of an ever-evolving health care system.

SOCIAL SCIENCES PROGRAMS

SNHU's Social Sciences department empowers and supports students to transform their lives and the lives of those around them through high-quality and innovative educational practices that enrich their knowledge and skills in the helping professions. Students apply their knowledge of human behavior through our programs in Anthropology, Criminal Justice,

Human Services, Political Science, Psychology, and Sociology. Our programs provide students with insights at the individual, societal, and global levels in order to create a richer understanding of multiple perspectives and cultures. Students also hone their skills in analysis, critical thinking, problem-solving, communication, ethical reasoning, and professionalism.

SCIENCE, TECHNOLOGY, ENGINEERING & MATHEMATICS PROGRAMS

The mission of SNHU's STEM Department is to serve as a global leader in STEM education by providing learner-centric and cutting-edge opportunities focused on equitable access for all using innovative technology and teaching practices. Our programs challenge students to think critically, to grow as professionals, and become lifelong learners who possess the interdisciplinary skills needed in a transformative society.

The STEM Department offers robust and challenging programs that engage students' diverse learning styles using projects, technology, industry tools, experiential learning, and environments that both adhere to our rigorous learning outcomes and are authentic to the relevant field of professional practice. We take great pride in providing our students with a transformative educational experience and enriching the world through the advancement of science, technology, engineering, and mathematics one learner at a time.

CONGRATULATIONS TO OUR NEWEST GRADUATES!

Congratulations, graduates of the Class of 2025!

We're proud to welcome you to the SNHU Alumni Association, and honored to celebrate your accomplishments and the determination that got you here today. You're joining the ranks of more than 300,000 SNHU alumni worldwide, a diverse and accomplished network of professionals, community leaders and change makers.

Your alma mater is here for you after you graduate. We encourage your active participation in the SNHU community – with a multitude of ways to stay connected and get involved. You can give back by volunteering as a career coach, building your regional SNHU network, attending regional and virtual events, and so much more!

Visit alumni.snhu.edu to update your alumni profile, leverage career resources, learn about upcoming events, access other great benefits and find meaningful ways to continue your journey with SNHU.

In Service,

Aaron R. Dupuis '19MBA
