SNHU Hospitality Management graduates have interned with or been hired by a range of organizations, including:

- Airlines
- Arenas
- Beverage distribution
- Casinos/gaming
- Conference centers
- Cruise lines
- Event planning
- Golf resorts
- Hotels
- Restaurants
- Retail
- Spas
- Stadiums
- Wineries

“The SNHU Hospitality program faculty is fantastic. They push you to work hard and be the best person you can be. I wouldn’t be where I am today in my career if I hadn’t been part of this program.”

Emily White, ’10
Sales and Event Manager
Giraffe Hotel, New York

Apply your hospitality management experience.

The SNHU Hospitality Management program’s requirement that you complete 500 hours of industry experience provides a bridge between your classroom experience and a career. This experience can include an organized internship or work in hospitality-related jobs. You also have the option of studying hospitality abroad for a semester or summer to gain a global perspective on the industry and expand your contacts.

With a degree in Hospitality Management from SNHU, you will be prepared for management-level positions in the hospitality industry. Your required hours of industry experience enable you to explore a number of areas in the field to determine your primary area of interest.

A network of SNHU alumni in hospitality and tourism leadership positions around the world can help connect you with industry internship and career opportunities. They are familiar with the quality of the program and often seek out graduates for positions at their organizations. The program provides excellent preparation for a career in the field and can position you for an exciting and successful career in hospitality.
Bachelor of Applied Science in Hospitality Management

Expand your knowledge and gain the professional experience needed to successfully manage organizations in the hospitality and tourism industry. Use your skills to succeed in your choice of hospitality areas, including restaurants, hotels, clubs, and resorts, as well as the airline and cruise industries.

The SNHU Hospitality Management program is specially designed for students with an associate degree from an accredited hospitality or culinary program. With credits from your associate degree program being transferable, you can stay on track in earning your bachelor’s degree.

Enjoy a balance of classroom learning and real-world experience in the SNHU Hospitality Management program approved by the Accreditation Commission for Programs in Hospitality Administration. Take a variety of business and hospitality courses and complete the required 500 hours of work experience in hospitality-related fields.

Engage in a variety of activities that build your skills in planning, organization, time management, teamwork, leadership, and innovative thinking in hospitality settings. Choose a concentration in Convention and Event Management, Hotel and Resort Management, or Restaurant Management.

SNHU Hospitality Business program faculty members are experts in their chosen areas and create classroom experiences that reflect actual hospitality practices. They bring the benefits of their connections with industry and professional organizations and alumni to the program.

To learn more about the Hospitality Management program at SNHU, visit snhu.edu.

Our Graduates Go Places
SNHU Hospitality Management graduates have interned with or been hired by a range of organizations, including:

- Archer Hotels
- Aramark
- Boston Park Plaza Hotel
- Cannes Film Festival
- Carlo’s Bake Shop
- Fairmont Hotels and Resorts
- Global Vision Hotels
- Hilton Hotels and Resorts
- Hyatt Hotels and Resorts
- Legends Hospitality
- Library Hotel Collection
- Marriott Hotels and Resorts
- Morton’s Steakhouse
- Omni Hotels and Resorts
- Princess Cruises
- Rutherford Ranch Winery
- Seaport Hotel and World Trade Center
- Starwood Hotels and Resorts Worldwide
- T-BONES & CJ’s – Great New Hampshire Restaurant
- The Walt Disney Company

MEET the expected skill requirements of the American Hotel and Lodging Association.

TRANSFER your skills and associate degree credits into a highly acclaimed hospitality program.

ENGAGE in a rewarding hospitality career that showcases your leadership and management skills.

BUILD your hospitality experience and résumé with 500 hours of industry experience.

Transfer your skills in hospitality.